Sessions.

There is but one session in the Seminary year. The year commences on the third Monday in September, and ends with the second Thursday in May.

Admission.

The regular time for admission to the Seminary is in September. It is very desirable that all Students should be present at the commencement of the year, particularly those entering the Junior Class.

The Seminary is open to Students of every denomination. Candidates for admission must furnish the Faculty with satisfactory testimonials of being in full communion with some Christian Church, and of having been regularly educated at some College or University, or in the absence of such testimonials, must satisfy the Faculty, by examination, that they have made attainments deemed equivalent. Such persons, on assenting to the Constitution of the Seminary, are admitted to the enjoyment of all its privileges.

Course of Study.

The Regular Course of Study embraces a period of three years, and covers the several departments of Theological education.

I. Biblical Literature.

1. The Grammar of the Hebrew and Chaldee Languages and the Grammatical and Exegetical study of the Hebrew and Chaldee Scriptures. Portions of the Historical, Poetical, and Prophetic Books, and the Chaldee of Ezra and Daniel, are read. To these are added written exercises in translating from English or the Greek of the Apocrypha into Hebrew.
2. The Exegetical study of the New Testament in Greek. The four Gospels in Harmony, the more important Epistles, are the subjects of Exegesis, the effort being to lead the Student, in the use of the best helps, to a thorough knowledge of the original.
3. Biblical Antiquities, Scripture Geography, Introduction to the Old and New Testaments, Biblical Criticism, The Canon of the Scriptures, (reference being had to the views of the Church of Rome and to modern sceptical theories,) the Original Languages of Scripture as to their character, history, and affinities, Interpretation and Prophecy, are topics of instruction by Text Book or Lectures. Occasional exegetical essays by Students.

II. Ecclesiastical History and Church Polity.

1. The Junior Class is occupied thrice every week with Old Testament Church History, the text-book being Kurtz's Manual of Sacred History. After finishing that work, they take up Schaff's History of the Christian Church, Vol. 1., Part II., which treats of the second and third centuries. The Lectures to this class are chiefly unwritten.

2. The Middle Class use for their text-books Kurtz's History of the Christian Church, in two volumes, and Killen's Ancient Church. The Professor meets this Class three times every week, and supplements the text-books with lectures.
3. The third year is devoted to Church Polity. The text-books are Bannerman's Church of Christ, Calvin's Institutes, Book IV., and Gillespie's Assertion of the Government of the Church of Scotland. The Professor meets this Class also three times every week, either for lecture or for examination on the text-book. Particular attention is given to the exposition of our Form of Government and Book of Discipline.

III. Pastoral and Evangelistic Theology.

In this department instruction is given by means of carefully prepared lectures, embracing the whole subject of ministerial call and character, together with the duties, relations, and functions of the evangelist's office, including its special application to foreign missionary work. Besides, the Pastoral Epistles in the original are minutely analysed and fully interpreted.

IV. Sacred Rhetoric.

Lectures are delivered upon this branch of study, which are supplemented (on separate days) by a close examination of the principles of Rhetoric proper, with the aid of the latest edition of Whately as a text-book. In addition, the analysis, with elaborate explanations, of portions of the Scripture, with the view of aiding the Student to a correct view of the homiletic art and of expository preaching, constitute one of the regular recitations. Sermons are also delivered memoriter, in the presence of the Professor in charge; also original pieces are declaimed for direct improvement in oratory, and debates are engaged in for readiness in extemporaneous speech; all of which exercises are carefully criticised.

V. Natural Science in connexion with Revealed Religion.

In this department, instruction is given exclusively by lectures. It embraces the Natural History of the Bible; Geology, Astronomy, and other branches of Natural Science, as far as they have any real or supposed connexion with Revelation; and also Archæology and Chronology. During the Senior year, the question of the Unity of the Human Race is fully examined.

VI. Didactic Theology.

In this department, each leading topic is introduced to the minds of the classes by one or more lectures. Continual reference is had to the best writers on each topic. One day in the week is set aside for conversation on the matters already gone over, and to the reading of short essays on subjects previously assigned. Proof texts are constantly required on points of Revealed Theology.

VII. Polemic Theology.

This is a distinct branch of study, and claims special attention one day each week. For about half the Session it is taught by Lectures, afterwards each Student reads an essay on some controverted matter which had been previously assigned to him, and the whole class is interrogated on the course of study pursued. Stapfer and Hill are often referred to; but no one text-book is adopted. The course embraces all the topics fairly belonging to the subject.

VIII. Mental and Moral Science.

A brief course in this branch of knowledge belongs to the close of the Junior year. Its chief object is to revive knowledge previously acquired, and to render it certain that the Professor and Students will use terms in the same sense during the Theological course.

Fourth Year's Course.

For those who prefer to extend their studies through a longer term, the following additional course is arranged for a Fourth Year :

Study of the Hebrew and Greek Scriptures continued ; Comparative Semitic Philology ; Church History continued to the present period ; Ecclesiology ; Characteristics of the most eminent and successful Preachers of the Gospel ; Theology continued ; Contributions of Science to Natural Theology and Illustration of Scriptures.

Instruction may also be obtained in the city in the French, German, Italian, and Spanish languages.

Professors' Conference.

Thursday evening is occupied by the Professors in familiar conference before the Students, upon personal piety, the best plan and method of study, and kindred topics.

—:0:—

Buildings.

These are neat and commodious. The Central Building is devoted to the Library and other public purposes. Law Hall and Simons Hall were planned especially for the comfort of the Students, and are supplied with the most necessary articles of furniture.

—:0:—

Library.

The Library of the Seminary, to which the extensive and choice Library of the Rev. Dr. Smyth, of Charleston, was added some years ago, now embraces 18,871 volumes. Besides this, the private Libraries of the Professors are large and valuable. The use of the University Library is also extended, by courtesy, to the Instructors of the Seminary, a collection of great value, and now amounting to more than 25,000 volumes.

The Society of Inquiry on Missions is in possession of a valuable CABINET, and its READING-ROOM is furnished with the most important Periodicals, Foreign and Domestic.

Expenses.

The Board and Washing of a Student residing in the Seminary amount to from one hundred and thirty to one hundred and fifty dollars per annum. The Institution is a charitable foundation, and no charge is made for room-rent, tuition, or use of Library. Provision is also made for the support of Students who are in need of aid.

Ecclesiastical Relations.

The Seminary, formerly related to the three Synods of South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama, is now under the control of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

—:0:—

Location.

The Seminary is pleasantly situated in the city of Columbia—a place remarkable for health, the capital of the State of South Carolina, the seat of the University and other public Institutions, of easy access by railways, which are connecting it more and more with other portions of the South and Southwest, and making it easy of access from any part of the United States.

Form of Bequest.

The Seminary is incorporated by the Legislature of South Carolina under its original name, and the proper form of a bequest would be as follows :

“To the Board of Directors of the Theological Seminary of the Synod of South Carolina and Georgia, to them and their successors, I give and bequeath the sum of ———, (or, I devise a certain parcel or tract of land, etc.,) to be applied by them to the uses and benefit of said Seminary.”

Testators will do well to have respect to the laws of the State in which they reside. The State of South Carolina requires that a last Will and Testament be signed by the testator in the presence of three witnesses.

The next term will begin on Monday, September 21, 1874.
